CREW Pittsburgh is a member of the National Network of Commercial
Real Estate Women

History

In October 1994, five women in Pittsburgh worked diligently to form a women's organization in the field of commercial real estate.

In 1995, Pittsburgh Women in Commercial Real Estate (PWCRE) was formed. Using everyone's Rolodex information, the first meeting was held in February 1995 at the Duquesne Club with an overwhelming 80 women present.

After that, PWCRE attracted an average 100 members per year.

In 2002, the Board of Directors evaluated the possibility of expanding the scope of the organization by joining forces with the national network of Commercial Real Estate Women-CREW Network.

Based on positive membership feedback a formal vote was conducted in June 2002, the result of which was an overwhelming majority voting to become the Western Pennsylvania chapter of CREW Network.

In October of 2002, PWCRE was officially voted into the national network. The name was changed in 2004 to CREW Pittsburgh.

CREW Network

CREW Network exists to influence the success of the commercial real estate industry by advancing the achievements of women and by focusing on fulfilling four key initiatives: business development, leadership development, industry research, and career outreach.

Professionals in the industry regularly call on our members to assist with all facets of their commercial real estate deals because of CREW Network's established reputation for excellence.

The CREW Network organization supports the careers of its members through industry research initiatives, delivery of targeted educational and professional development sessions, business networking forums and more. Additionally, our organization is working to increase diversity within the industry by bringing awareness to all girls and women of the exciting and lucrative commercial real estate careers available to them.

Whether you're looking for the right team to close your next commercial real estate transaction or you're looking for the right organization to advance your business or career, look to CREW Network.
